Interior Design and Project Management

I am an interior designer and project manager, with over twenty years experience in the retail and commercial sectors. My work covers all aspects of design development and project management. I handle designs for shops, offices, coffee shops and restaurants, and I manage projects from initial design stage to completion on site.

I take a practical approach to design, taking full account of clients' stated aims and objectives.

I am a member of the Association for Project Management and take particular care over the management of projects, what ever the size or complexity. Much of my work involves guiding independent businesses through the complex process of design development, statutory approvals, competitive cost tendering and contract management.

I handle work for large retail companies and small businesses. I have access to good quality site work and installation teams, and oversee all works where required.

If you need a responsive service for your development project then please call me to discuss your requirements.
